STATE RELIEF CONTROL REJECTED IN HOUSE

ABLE QUIZZED AGAIN; POLICE SEEK NEW CLUES

Spurred by Suicide Note,
Investigators Retrace

QUESTION WOMAN IN STEUBENVILLE

She Tried to Get Ludwig Apartment On Night of Slaying

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 12.—Spurred by a suicide note ascribed to professional killers took the life of Mrs. Deuber S. Cable, investigators retraced today trails led only to failure in their efforts to solve the crime a year ago.

The divorcee's declaration, written before she died of carbon monoxide fumes under her automobile Monday, that "the men" did the work was from Cleveland.

Cable, 48, remained in custody after possible further questioning. Simpson, his counsel, said he told him he "wanted to help" authorities all he could to clear his name. Simpson said he did not plan to seek his client's release.

Chief Ira Manderbaugh and detectives went to Steubenville yesterday to question a woman said to be Cable. Deuber's sister, tried unsuccessfully the day of the slaying—March 11, 1937—to reach Miss Ludwig's Akron apartment. Manderbaugh declined comment upon his return.

Miss Ludwig, held with Cable after the killing on a technical suspicion charge, claimed she was in her apartment that night.

Other investigators spent the day in the vicinity of Columbus, asserting they needed to look further before disclosing the results of their assignment. Manderbaugh was silent on a report that his officers were ordered to Cleveland.

Not In Her Apartment
Cable said she told Miss Ludwig Sunday night, when she called home, that he and his brother retained she was not in her apartment.

Brazil President Defends Himself

Besieged by Fascist rebels who attempted to seize the palace and the government, President Getulio Vargas of Brazil took his own revolver and defended himself and family in the palace in Rio de Janeiro. Vargas fired down on the rebels, running from window to window. Government troops came to the president's aid.

VARGAS BEGINS FASCIST DRIVE

Nation-Wide Search Under Way For Leader Of Revolt

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, May 12.—Brazil's strong man, president Getulio Vargas, invoked full military and police action today to wipe out forever Fascist Green-shirts, whose three and one-half hour rebellion failed because they did not know the government palace was without a garrison within its walls.

Police, with 500 of the rebels already in jail, spread through the city, searched every suspected Fascist's home, made more arrests and found evidence the revolt was well planned but without coordinated execution.

Hunt Ring-Leader
They pressed a nation-wide search for the fugitive Plinio Salgado, head of the Green-shirts and allegedly the "intellectual leader" of yesterday's abortive uprising. Salgado has been in hiding for several months.

The rebels made their attack yesterday morning against President Vargas' palace, the residence of the chief of staff of the army, and other strategic points—but they lacked the one vital piece of

Hold Final Rites For F. D. Hauptman

NEW WATERFORD, May 12.—Funeral service was held this afternoon for Frederick D. Hauptman, 88, one-time postmaster, who died at his home here Tuesday following an extended illness. Burial was in the village cemetery.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 1, 1850, Mr. Hauptman was the oldest son of Augustus Frederick and Dorsetta Huch Hauptman. In 1857 the family moved here and with the exception of five years when Mr. Hauptman worked as bookkeeper for the Pennsylvania railroad in Pittsburgh, he had lived in New Waterford practically all his life.

He was postmaster for the village during President Grover Cleveland's first administration. Mr. Hauptman for years operated a bakery in town.

Besides his wife, the former Mary Thompson of New Waterford, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Christian G. Gerber.

Daniel M. Cronin, Ware Maker, Dead

MINERVA, May 12.—Daniel M. Cronin, 47, president and owner of the Cronin China Co. of Minerva, died in Mercy hospital at Canton Wednesday night from a broken back suffered a week ago last Sunday when he was thrown from a horse which he was riding at Waynesburg.

Mr. Cronin also had been interested in pottery manufacture in East Liverpool and New Cumberland, W. Va., before going to Minerva.

Survivors, besides Mrs. Cronin, include his mother, Mrs. Anna M. Cronin, of Minerva; four brothers, Cronin, of Minerva; and Harold of Minerva and Dr. John Cronin of Cleveland.

KILLING FROST CUTS BIG SWATH IN FRUIT AREAS

25-Degree Minimum Reported In Salem; 26 At Wooster

EFFECT IS FELT
IN HOME GARDENS

Local Orchardists Find
Damage After Survey
Today

Serious damage to fruit in orchards around Salem, as well as home garden crops, was caused by the heavy frost which accompanied sub-freezing temperatures in this section of Ohio last night. It is disclosed by district growers.

The damage was reported generally throughout the state. Salem, as well as Wooster, recorded a 25-degree minimum; Mansfield 27; Washington Court House, 28; Fremont, 28.5.

Fruit Damaged

While Floyd Lower, Columbiana county agricultural extension agent, said it is too early to tell definitely the extent to which the fruit crops are damaged, W. H. Matthews and D. R. McConnell, two prominent Salem orchardists, reported decided losses.

They pointed out that although the trees themselves were not hurt, the frost and cold had killed the early fruit. Matthews, explaining that the apples are quite hardy, expressed the belief that the trees on higher ground escaped. Peaches were damaged.

McConnell, however, found practically all his fruit damaged. The orchardists also observed damage to strawberry plants which were in bloom.

The men also found that the grape crop has been hit hard, especially those on low ground, while the frost nipped many tomato plants set out in gardens at private homes.

In Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Agent Harold Ward said fruit crops in northeastern Ohio were just about "shot." Weatherman Ralph C. Mize of Cleveland explained that the unseasonable cold resulted from a lingering high pressure area centering over the Great Lakes.

35.8 at Columbus
The weather bureau at Columbus reported a minimum temperature today of 35.8 degrees, breaking a previous record of 36 for the date.

Friendly Council Provides Better Life For Many Girls

Sharing In Chest Campaign This Year, Its Opportunity For Usefulness Will Be Enlarged

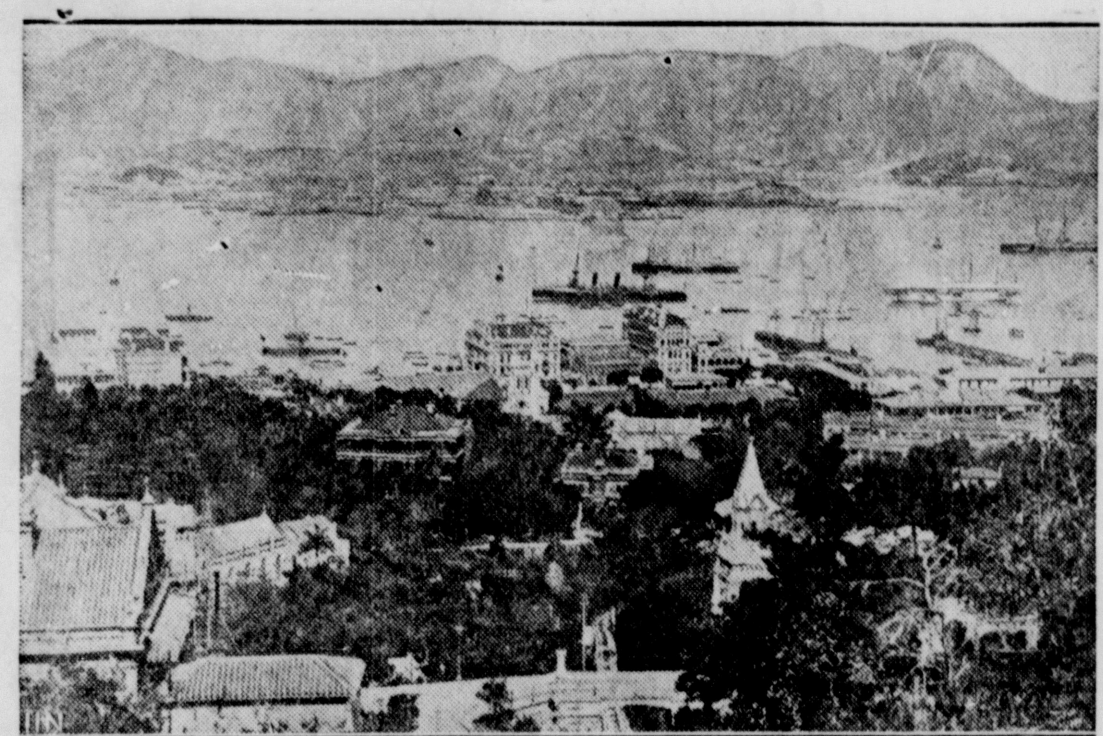

The Salem Friendly Council, which is to share a small portion of the 1938 Community Chest fund, was organized in March, 1938, as a branch of the county organization formed to develop better conditions for boys and girls in Columbiana county.

The Salem council sponsors a club to provide opportunities for girls between the ages of 12 and 17 who are seeking self-improvement. This girls' club, named by its members the Salem Recreation club, was organized in May, 1936, and has a membership of more than 40.

An investigation of home and circumstances is made by the school nurse before girls are admitted to membership. A large number of younger girls have been refused membership because of limited quarters, lack of instructors and resources.

The club has shown marked advancement in the last year in interest, spirit and benefits derived from various projects. Older girls are now officers of the club and have taken responsibilities in a very encouraging manner. The club has an average attendance of 35 at weekly meetings.

Officials Swinging New Shooting Irons

The golf balls are going to fly at the Salem Golf club course Saturday when Mayor George Harhoff and Safety Director C. E. Donahay meet Mayor Floyd Senn and Safety-Service Director V. J. Packer of Alliance in a foursome.

The golf balls should fly, at least, for the officials have good intentions of hitting them.

The match was arranged as an afterthought to the Alliance solons' defeat at the hands of Mayor Harhoff and Director Donahay in a recent pistol shoot at Alliance.

BAND TO ENTER NATIONAL MEET

Lisbon Musicians to Hold Concert at 8 P. M. Friday

LISBON, May 12.—The championship Lisbon High school band, directed by Arthur Wise, will present a public concert at 8 p. m. Friday in the Presbyterian church auditorium.

Proceeds of the concert will aid in financing the band's trip to Elkhart, Ind., May 19, 20, 21, to participate in the national band contest.

The Lisbon school band has attended each national contest since 1934 at Des Moines, Ia., a record that speaks for itself.

The aggregation again this year won the right to enter the national tournament by winning a "superior" rating in the state band contest finals. The "superior" rating is the highest award given in the state contests.

Director Wise has arranged an enjoyable program of band music for tomorrow night's concert.

Broadcast Feature Of Church Service

A radio broadcast will feature the evangelistic service at the Church of the Nazarene, E. Second st., Friday night, it was announced today by Rev. John Guy, pastor.

The program will be in charge of Rev. John Paul Mackey, evangelist, and his co-workers, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walker. Rev. Mackey, well-known in evangelistic circles, will continue the revival series at the Nazarene church to May 22, inclusive.

Exceptionally large audiences have attended the services, Rev. Guy announced today.

City Hall Clock Will Be Painted

The historic clock atop city hall groaned and came to a stop the other day, so today it's being repaired.

The hands on one side of the clock came off and were replaced, being painted a gold color.

City officials thought the color looked good. But, because the new paint contrasted with the shabbiness of the rest of the tower, it has been decided to paint all four faces of the clock.

The work is being done by John Hundertmark Jr., whose grandfather, the late Loren T. French, cared for the clock for years.

SOBER VIRTUE

It's hard to believe it was only a year ago that the British royal troubles were patched up with the coronation of King George VI.

Apparently, the patch is holding. The colorful Edward seems almost forgotten, and his colorless brother, according to reports, is slowly but steadily winning the respect due to sober virtue in these hectic days.

King George, they are saying now, may be like his beloved father as the years move on—a patient, unspectacular man, blessed with an attractive family and a good queen. These seem to be the things which most of his subjects want most of the time. Razzle-dazzle gets them, as it does all men at some time or other, but for long wear they choose modesty, carpet slippers, a fireside scene and solid beef.

Almost apologetically, in view of its doubts, last May, America offers congratulations. If it were to need a king, a George VI probably would be as satisfactory as any.

EASIER BREATHING SPELL

The presidential spring vacation this year, if the habit of previous years were to prevail, would be followed by a display of executive fireworks. In post-vacation energy, Mr. Roosevelt has proved he is no exception to the rule that vacationers return to their jobs full of vim and vigor.

In 1934, 1935, 1936 and 1937, he put on a burst of speed when he came back to the capital. This year, however, unless all the communicative soothsayers are wrong, nothing is going to happen. Things are in better shape than when Mr. Roosevelt left Washington, and the situation seems to be under congressional control.

Perhaps prematurely, the annual yell for quick adjournment of congress is rising from the open mouths of all kinds of volunteer advisers, perhaps occupational advisers, too. There is talk of clearing the decks by June 1, depending on disposition of the wage-hour bill, which so far seems to be the only controversial measure left in the way.

This may not be an actual breathing spell, according to the requirements of those who are short of breath, but at least it's beginning to look like an interlude of easier breathing.

WHY NOT "EAT PANCAKES WEEK?"

The department of agriculture's estimate of a winter wheat crop of more than 754,000,000 bushels, plus 200,000,000 bushels in the spring wheat crop, would have brought joy to Joseph, the first food conservator, but this isn't Egypt.

It's the United States, and the wall of the wheat farmers fills the land. With close to a billion bushels of new wheat in sight for a normal consumption of about 750,000,000 bushels, not to mention an expected carryover of 200,000,000 bushels from last year, wheat farmers already are holding out their hands to Washington for relief.

The obvious solution is a drouth. The one thing which can't be controlled, even on paper. In the absence of a drouth, such as the ones which have helped agricultural adjustment out of a hole in previous years, farm relief will go the limit—subsidies this year and drastic curtailment of wheat acreage in 1939.

The alternative is to eat more wheat, thereby increasing demand and jacking up the price by the old fashioned rule of supply and demand. It is an amazing thing that a government which apparently stops at nothing never has tried its hand at increasing wheat consumption. A pancake revival alone might turn the trick.

IT'S MUTUAL

When Foreign Minister Koki Hirota says fear of the United States worries "not a few" Japanese, he might add that the reverse is true, also.

Insofar as Americans are permitted to know what goes on in high and mighty places, it is fear of Japan which has shifted the focus of American defense in recent years from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean.

It is common knowledge, though not usually admitted, that this disturbs the Japanese, who are not privileged to understand, as nearly all Americans are, that this government has nothing but peace on its mind. A big gun mounted on a big ship may be self defense when Americans look at it, but the Japanese are skeptical.

Foreign Minister Hirota speaks hopefully of a non-aggression pact and hints his government is preparing to discuss the subject with Washington. Whether this is a consequence of United States naval expansion, or a proposal for preventing appropriations to make authorized expansion, there is no good reason under the sun why the possibilities of an understanding should not be thoroughly explored, not so much for Japan's sake as for the sake of quieting this country's fear of a nation which entertains a similar fear of the United States.

There may be sudden disruptions, notably affecting the private life. These call for vigilance and sagacity.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very exciting and eventful year, with much readjustment of the affairs, both business and private. Old matters should reach culminations, with attendant hard work and initiative. Politics, rings or secret agreements may precipitate sudden change or travel. Move with vigilance and acumen.

A child born on this day may be bold, adventurous and enterprising, but is apt to accomplish its objectives by the use of diplomacy, strategem or secrecy. It may have a strenuous and adventurous career.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland,
New York City.

CIRCULATORY DISORDER

Many persons hold the wrong belief that poor circulation is a minor and trivial disorder. They fail to realize that it may be the first sign of some organic disorder.

For example, it may be due to "Raynaud's disease."

Let me tell you about this strange affliction. It was first described in 1892 by Maurice Raynaud, a physician.

Although we know a great deal more about it than when it was first described, the actual case has not been discovered.

In this affliction there is a peculiar spasm of the blood vessels. As a rule it is confined to the vessels of the extremities. Of course, it may be found elsewhere, but usually in the fingers or toes.

It is more common among females than males. Women who are overworked, undernourished, anemic, or who suffer from some constitutional disturbance, are most likely to develop this disorder.

Those who suffer from this affliction have cold feet and hands. Of course, the discomfort is more marked during the winter months, but the symptoms are observed during the summer season.

Blanching of Skin

If the affected part is carefully examined during a spasm, a peculiar blanching of the skin is noted. This is caused by a shutting off of the circulation. The victim complains of a sensation which he describes as a "going to sleep" of the parts involved. There is distinct numbness.

In the more advanced form of the disease the skin may actually appear dead white. This pallor persists for a half hour or longer. As the spasm wears off and the blood returns to the part, the normal color gradually returns.

Of course, I do not mean to imply that all cases of poor circulation are necessarily signs of Raynaud's disease. As a matter of fact, the ailment is rare. But I wish to point out that if the symptoms I have indicated are present, medical attention should be obtained.

Circulatory disturbances are usually benefited by warm climate. During winter, warm baths, massage and protection of the body against cold help to guard against further damage to the circulation. Internal medication must be prescribed by your physician.

(Owing to pressure of other business, Dr. Copeland cannot answer questions from readers.)

so you can have motor protection!

Crucial "V.I." test shows SOHIO Motor Oil flows like "light" oil yet resists heat like "heavy" oil!

Science shows why your motor is safer... why you use less oil between changes with Ohio's first-choice lubricant!

oil! That means your motor is safer from heat; that the oil will last longer and save you money!

We've gone nature "one better!" Under a patented process we've created an oil that actually resists thickening when cold—that won't thin out like butter when hot. Your motor is safer whatever the temperature.

This amazing resistance to motor temperatures is the greatest protective quality an oil can have. Scientists measure this "safety-factor" with the famous "V. I." test. They know the higher the "V. I.," the better the oil, the better mileage it gives, the better it protects.

Feel SOHIO Motor Oil in your fingers when it's poured from the can. It's as "runny" as a light oil. That means you get fast oil circulation—greater protection for your high-speed motor.

In the important "V. I." test, SOHIO Motor Oil has one of the highest safety ratings in the world today. And you pay only 25¢ a quart. You not only pay less—you use less oil, too, because of its low consumption. So, next time, make it SOHIO—the motor oil Ohio prefers above all others regardless of price!

Then—when your motor is hot, pull out the oil gauge and feel the oil again. Notice it is rich and full-bodied—that it hasn't thinned out like ordinary

REVOLT EMPHASIZES MONROE DOCTRINE WARNING

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Integralist (Fascist) revolution in Brazil would seem to give emphasis to the Washington administration's warning of last month that the Monroe doctrine still exists and outsiders are to keep predatory hands off the western hemisphere.

Materials From Foreign Brickyard

One hastens to add there has been no charge that this revolt had foreign backing. However, the green-shirted Integralists who are credited with engineering the uprising have built their house largely with material made in the Mussolini-Hitler brickyard.

Brazil's big Italian population, estimated to total at least a million and a half, is chiefly Fascist. Germans probably run close to 200,000, and most of them are Nazi.

Dr. Madeira De Freitas, a Brazilian physician who has described himself as "the Goebbels (propagandist) of Integralism," said at the end of 1936 that the Integralist chiefs, Plinio Salgado, had shown his plans to Mussolini. The Italian dictator was quoted as predicting: "You will rue Brazil by 1937."

The point of all this is that whatever the racial complexion of the Integralists may be, and irrespective of who inspired the revolt, they still think in terms of the European dictatorships.

Rejoicing Short-lived

An indication of what the advent of Fascism or Nazism in Brazil would mean may be seen from the fact that when the present dictator, Dr. Getulio Vargas, seized power last year there was great rejoicing in Rome and even Berlin, because it was believed Vargas was establishing an out-and-out Fascist state. But it proved to be just plain Vargasism.

A Fascist or Nazi-Fascist state in Brazil would be a highly important recruit to the anti-Democracy bloc. It would mean preferential economic advantages and extension of colonization.

In connection with the Washington warning our representative in Peru, Ambascador Steinhardt, urged in a broadcast to all Latin American countries that they present a united front against old world "predatory forces" seeking "new or lost fields to conquer." He was supposed to refer to the efforts (including the bombardment of propaganda) being made by Germany, Italy and Japan to gain a foothold in various South American countries.

Making Progress

These three totalitarian states have made much progress in Brazil. Their colonies there are large.

The United States as a whole is taking much more thought of South America than previously.

We now know among many other facts that Brazil is a potential treasure house. It is bigger in area than our own country, and has an estimated population of 48,000,000. It is undeveloped as yet, but it will be a great field for trade in time.

Many believe the future foreign interests of the United States will lie mainly in this hemisphere.

Battle Over Funds

TIFFIN, May 12.—Seneca county commissioners and the county board of public assistance were involved today in a controversy over control of funds for the blind.

The commissioners ordered the functions transferred to the relief administration. The public assistance board held onto its records and appealed to state officials.

Museum Is Gift

TIFFIN, May 12.—Seneca county received a gift of a historical museum and moved today to organize a historical society. The Baldwin home, a 92-year-old landmark, was donated by Dr. Frank E. M. Baldwin, retired dentist, who offered also to endow it if a society were formed.

"Love I Dare Not" by ALLENE CORLISS

CHAPTER XV

Alec stopped and waited expectantly and when she was silent, he said, "Well, why don't you say something? What do you think of it? Do you like it or don't you?"

Gina was regarding him thoughtfully. She had listened to him, at first incredulously, and then with the growing conviction that if he persisted in writing this play, it would be an utterly disastrous experiment.

Frowning faintly, she said, "Do you really want to know what I think about it?"

"Of course, I've been so anxious for you to get back so I could go over it with you. I was sure you would be as enthusiastic about it as I am. But I can see you're not. I can see you don't like it. Well, why don't you say so? Why don't you say straight out that you don't like it?"

He was angry at her now. He stared at her, his cheeks flushed, his eyes accusing.

"It isn't so much that I don't like the idea of the play," said Gina slowly. "I do. That is, I like it for someone else. For Shane Benefield, for instance, or possibly Larry. But not for you, Alec."

"I know. You think because I have never done anything but brilliant, sophisticated comedies that I do a tender, delicate play like 'The Apple Orchard'?"

"I don't know. It certainly is completely removed from anything I've ever done. And it does seem to me it would be a little hazardous to risk making such an utter change. After all, you've accustomed your public to expect one type of play from you—how do you think they will like having something entirely different shoved at them?"

"Now you're talking like Bernstein. And I don't give a damn for any public."

"In that case—" Gina shrugged delicately.

"All right. I do give a damn for them. But if it's good, they'll take it and like it. You know that. But what you really think is that it won't be good. That is what you think, isn't it, Gina?"

"I don't know, I tell you. I say that I think it is risky. On the other hand, perhaps you can do it."

"But you don't really believe I can."

She thought, "We are quarreling, and I don't want to quarrel with him. Not today. Not about this play or anything else."

She said aloud, "I didn't say that. Perhaps you can, Alec. You probably can. And it's a lovely idea. I'm not saying so because I think it's a good idea. But let's not talk about it any more now. If we do, we're sure to get angry and I don't want to get angry."

"Very well," Alec grinned amiably. "I won't say anything more about the play. Let's talk about something else."

"Yes, let's talk about Tommy. I haven't seen him yet. Has he changed any? Is he happy to be back?"

"The answer," said Alec, "seems to be yes and no to both those questions. He hasn't changed in many ways and he has in others. He had to be back, I think, but he was as the devil. I'm anxious to see what you make of him, Gina. Frankly he's got me puzzled."

"Well, you can understand that. After all, he isn't a schoolboy any more. You can't blame him for wanting to be on his own."

"I know. But he's changed in other ways, Gina. He's harder. Harder to get at, if you see what I mean. You know how close we always were, well, something's happened to that old, easy relationship. He holds off, somehow, not as if he wanted to, exactly, but as if he couldn't help it."

"Well," Gina said again, reasonably, "he's been away three years. Give him a little time. I can believe he's really any different, but there's bound to have to be certain readjustments after any separation."

Alec grinned. "All right, I'll stop harping about it. But there's one other thing," he added, more seriously. "He doesn't like Caroline."

"For heaven's sake, why not?"

Gina's voice was mildly incredulous. "I can't imagine. Probably because I hoped he would. It usually works out like that, you know."

"Yes. But how do you know?"

"Well, it's pretty obvious. He took her dancing one afternoon and dropped it there. Hasn't even called her up since. Whenever I suggest he join us, he has something else to do. Figure it out for yourself, darling, but it's awkward."

"Now that I stop to think of it," admitted Gina, "Caroline did act queer about him. When I mentioned him, I mean. She didn't say much. Just that yes, she had met him, and that was about all. I remember thinking that it was odd she wasn't more enthusiastic, but she's a strange child, more interested in her work than in any man."

"Yes," said Alec. "I wish to God, she wasn't."

"But I thought," Gina was smiling at him lazily, "that you were glad she wasn't involved... emotionally, I mean. I remember quite distinctly your telling me that you wouldn't have bothered with her at all if she had been."

"That," said Alec, speaking distinctly, his eyes on the fire, "was eight weeks ago. I wasn't in love with her then. I am now."

The room was very still. Gina continued to sit with her head pressed back against the faded lines of the sofa. Only her hands moved. They were pressed down at her sides now and she had taken her feet off the footstool, so that all of her fell in straight lines. Her arms, falling straight down at her sides, the black velvet of her frock falling in straight lines from her knees to her slim ankles.

She said, deliberately keeping the corners of her mouth turned up in that quiet, half humorous little smile, "I didn't know, Alec—and yet in a way I suppose I did. It was true. In a way, she had known. Since that first night, really, but she had put the knowledge away from her. Had refused to accept it, had deliberately closed her eyes to it. Especially during this time she had been away. He had said, that last night, 'There's no reason in the world why we shouldn't take a holiday together... work hard in Pittsburgh darling, and perhaps when you come back we can manage it.' And she had believed, she had thought."

She wrenched her mind away from what she had thought. What- ever it was, she had been wrong. Alec loved Caroline. He had just admitted telling her. He had said, "But that was eight weeks ago. I wasn't in love with her then. I am now."

She had to say something. She couldn't just sit here and start at him with that smile frozen on her face. She had to say something, and pretend she was glad. Pretend she was happy about it. All the rest of her life she would have to pretend that. She might as well begin now.

"Yes, I suppose I did. I did know. And I think it is lovely, Alec. I think it is lovely for both of you." Alec leaned forward. His eyes were frowning and intent. "You really mean that? You're not just being decent and sweet?"

"But of course I mean it. Why shouldn't I? I adore you both."

"Never mind that. We know each other too well, darling. To have to dissemble. And we both know you might not have felt like this at all. I'm not fool enough to think that you are any longer in love with me, but you were once. Gina, and most women—"

Gina laughed briefly and stood up. "Well, I'm not most women. You should also know that..." She walked swiftly over to the window and pulled the curtains together. She stopped by the piano and turned on a pale shaded lamp. She came back to him then, and stood with the firelight flowing over her softly, her face completely composed.

But she was not quite prepared for what happened next.

Alec stood up and came close to her and put his hands lightly on her shoulders. It was an old and tender gesture. Once he would have followed it by his bending his head and kissing her on the mouth.

But today he simply smiled down at her and said, "I do know that. I also know that you are a completely charming and lovely person."

She felt her shoulders tremble beneath the touch of his hands and she laughed and moved away from him. "I'm not, of course. But it is pleasant to hear you say so quietly, like that, as if you really meant it."

"I do mean it. But you know that. You know how I feel about you, Gina."

"Yes," said Gina, and then because she did know exactly how he felt about her and that it was not at all the way she felt about him, she said, "That must be Caroline, now," and was relieved when the door opened and it was.

Because anything, even Caroline's coming in, looking very young and wind-blown, was better than being left alone any longer with Alec.

Get Wise to Constipation!

When you're constipated, it's a great temptation to be satisfied with quick relief. But physics may become a habit. And they don't keep constipation from returning. It's so much better to get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat a little Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk," it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills are sold everywhere. They are the only pills that will help you get rid of the waste that causes backache, rheumatism, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

WPA WORKS ROLL IS HIGH IN STATE

More Given Work In Ohio Than In Any Other Area

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 12.—The Works Progress Administration is giving employment today to more men in Ohio than in any other state.
Ohio, with a population of more than 6,000,000, has 233,500 persons on WPA, State WPA headquarters reported. Pennsylvania, with a population 3,000,000 in excess of the Buckeye state's, has 229,941 on its WPA rolls.
Late figures for other states were not available. However, the leading states in WPA jobs on April 23 were: Pennsylvania 226,500; Ohio 223,500; New York 212,341; Illinois 199,100; and Michigan 136,191.

Needs Are Greater

Asked for an explanation of Ohio's high rating Otis Garber, Deputy State WPA administrator, said employment quotas were based on the needs among unemployed, and that conditions lead officials to believe the need was greatest in Ohio.
WPA expenditures in Ohio in March totaled $12,827,700, as compared with $13,076,300 in March of 1936 when the peak WPA employment of previous years—187,000 persons—was reached.
The low point in Ohio's WPA employment was 81,000 persons, last September.

Ohio's position at the head of the WPA job list was reported to Sen. Robert J. Bulkley (D-Ohio) in Washington by Howard C. Hunter, regional WPA administrator at Chicago.
Hunter also told Senator Bulkley that Cleveland had a larger number of unemployed on WPA projects in proportion to population than any other city ever had. He said there were 65,000 WPA workers in Cleveland and 73,000 (including Cleveland's) in Cuyahoga county.

Worst Relief Crisis

Despite this employment Cleveland was experiencing a relief crisis described by officials there as the worst in six years.
Regular relief funds exhausted, relief officials sought to feed as best they could some 87,000 needy with a $70,000 seven-day emergency appropriation.
City officials looked to the state for alleviation of the crisis through appropriation of relief money at a special legislative session starting next Monday.

It was announced that on Friday evening, May 27, the society will sponsor Bob White, a radio entertainer, on a program at the Methodist Episcopal church at 8 p. m.

Verdict Is Awarded In Accident Action

LISBON, May 12.—A petit jury in common pleas court this morning awarded $137.50 damages to Anna Voytek of Salem who had brought suit against the Pennsylvania railroad for $2,510 to compensate for injuries alleged to have been suffered when the automobile in which she was riding crashed into a string of box cars on the W. Pershing st. crossing in Salem.
The accident happened March 28, 1936, when she was riding with Sherman Spindell, also of Salem. The plaintiff charged the railroad gates were not lowered in time.

NLRB Moves Again

COVINGTON, Ky., May 12.—Before the U. S. circuit court of appeals here today was a petition by the National Labor Relations Board for early hearing in June of the Ford Motor Co., case.
The board seeks to reopen Ford hearings and correct proceedings in which it found the company guilty of violating the Wagner Labor Act. Ford contests this procedure.

Westerners Bowl

CINCINNATI, May 12.—Bowlers from Galveston, Denver and Chicago were expected today to shake up the standings of the Women's National Bowling tournament.
Western state representatives shared the alleys with a large Hamilton, O., contingent yesterday but failed to change the leaders.

CLEVELAND, May 12.—Carl V. Weygandt, chief justice of the Ohio supreme court since 1933, was a candidate today for re-election in November. He formally announced his candidacy on a platform of harmony and efficiency.

G.O.P. PROPOSAL IS BEATEN DOWN

Asked Bi-Partisan Boards To Eliminate Politics In Relief

The standing vote was 106 to 39. The first amendment to the $3,654,000,000 lending-spending bill, offered by Representative Bacon (R-NY), was the minority proposal for decentralization of relief. It proposed to set up bi-partisan boards to handle relief funds and to require states to put up 25 cents for every $1 contributed by the federal government.

Would Eliminate Politics

Under that arrangement, Bacon said, "more and more relief money would reach the people in actual need."

"By this plan," he said, "we believe we will go a long way toward eliminating politics in relief and relief in politics."

While conceding that perhaps states should have more control over relief, Representative Woodrum (D-Va.) said it would be inadvisable "to change the machinery" in this fashion during a time of emergency.

Christian Science Plans Reading Room

Forty-one new members were welcomed by the Christian church congregation at a reception in the church last night.

A short devotional period was followed by a program which included: Vocal solo, Harold Ludwig; vocal duet, Mrs. J. Herbert Yengling and Stewart Painter; reading, Mrs. Virginia Courtney; welcome, Miss Ethel Beardmore; introduction of new members and public welcome.

Refreshments were served after the entertainment and reception.

Trades Class Heads To Attend Meeting

The Salem Trades Class will be well represented at the spring meeting in Youngstown Saturday of the Northeastern Ohio Vocational Association for Trades and Industries.
Besides Holland Cameron, coordinator, the group will include Elmer Kerr, Dudley Ashend, Ralph Perrine, Russell Moore, Richard Wilson, Galen Weaver and William Miller, all faculty members.
Because of the meeting, there will be no Trades Class session here Saturday.

Special Services At Phillips Church

A special service will be held at the Phillips Church of Christ, south of Salem, at 11 a. m. Sunday.

The program will include: Selections by an eight-piece orchestra; vocal number, Miss Naomi Shinn, accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Kirkbride; guitar and harmonica duet, Tyrus Swartz and Frank Yengling; vocal selections by a quartet, Mrs. J. Herbert Yengling, Miss Janet Greenstein, Stewart Painter and Harold Ludwig; harmonica and guitar solo, Frank Yengling.

Guitar and harmonica duet, Frank Yengling and Tyrus Swartz; numbers by a 21-voice junior choir, directed by Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite; orchestra numbers; vocal solo, Mrs. Yengling; quartet selection, harmonica and electric guitar, Tyrus Swartz; concluding number by the orchestra.

apartment the night a shotgun blast killed Mrs. Cable. The divorcee called, the brothers said, to demand money.

"It was not 30 days after Rose Cable was laid in her grave," the brother said, "that she (Miss Ludwig) made demands of marriage upon Deuber."

"In one conference with her, when she insisted on talking to Deuber, I said to her: 'If you will solve the murder of Rose Cable, I will withdraw my objections to your marrying Deuber.'"

Simpson said Miss Ludwig wrote her suicide note under great mental stress. He added: "She had been newly scorned."

William D. Quinn, attorney to whom the note was addressed, said the missive probably would have no weight in court since her declaration was based on hearsay.

The divorcee wrote Quinn: "I can't go on and not tell it (that hired gunmen did the killing). I can't take the stand and tell this, so I am taking the easy way out."

VARGAS BEGINS FASCIST DRIVE

information that could have carried them to at least momentary success.

J. Alberto Lins De Barros, former charge d' affaires who helped defend the president's palace, told about it today.

"I believe the attackers did not know the palace was completely without an internal garrison, otherwise they would have advanced into the palace instead of fighting in the gardens," he said.

"The truth is the president's life was in imminent danger."

Vargas, with his dark-eyed 23-year-old daughter, Donna Alzira, and only five others were inside ready to fight off the attackers from palace windows, but fighting outside apparently convinced the rebels they faced a strong body of defenders. Arriving reinforcements saved the palace and the attackers capitulated.

Vargas strengthened, invoked martial law to carry on punitive action against the revolt which ended at 5:30 a. m. yesterday, with 12 dead and 22 injured.

The 500-odd already in jail faced military and police court trial within 24 hours, with death sentences likely at least for the chiefs.

Except for the soldiers and police moving through the streets in small detachments, there was little to indicate today that anything untoward had occurred.
